

ALONER

VERSE 1: She looked at me - with that sympathetic look in her eyes
She said this'll never work out - if you're not willing to try
But I was having a hard time pretending
There was any kind of chance for a happy ending
Could have tried to be what she wanted
But I knew it never would feel right

VERSE 2: We had our last words - same words we used before
See, this is not the first time - I walked out of a lover's door
This is getting to be a regular thing
My feet get cold when wedding bells ring
I told her I was sorry
Then I followed my heart once more

CHORUS: Because I am a loner - a solitary man
You may find my ways are hard to understand
I spend a lot of time listenin' to the wind in the trees
Watchin' the waves rollin' out on the sea
I'm a loner - alone again - a solitary man

BRIDGE: Now some girls think the world
Of somebody they can cling to
And some guys would die if they couldn't find Someone to give a diamond ring to
But let's not forget about those people in doubt
Who never really settle down
Oh I can hear it again that ol' ramblin' wind
And oh how I love that sound

BREAK: music = verse

VERSE 3: So if you read my name - in the engagement section
Don'cha give me that - "I told ya' so" reaction
If I find someone to give all my affections
First she will have to change my direction
'Cause right now - I just can't see how
I can change the way I am

CHORUS: repeat
